

102 A Join us, as we need you.

You Are Not Alone You Are Amazing may be seeking you?

If U are a believer, non-believer, not sure? unchurched, churched, don't care about church? unreligious, religious, spiritual? or whatever you call yourself & If you are willing to realize that "being right" in your own mind, is a lonely place & not a logical life goal & that learned beliefs may at times, be more relative, or opinionated, than factual, then think about joining this group, of eternal friends.

This group's goal is a fully diversified army of caring, discerning, moral, friends, seeking changes in thinking patterns, for building a stronger, better, life existence, for each individual, as well as for families, friends & community.

We are asking you to join with us, to seek a true positive life change, while learning to shine, in a world overflowing with "the enemy's" dark negativity, as we stand against false religious teachings, false doctrines, false beliefs, traditions, legalisms, hatred & the tearing down of families, friendships, neighbors & societal unity.

We will each mature to the realization that as we join & work together, for a better existence, that there will be differences in "learned truths", opinions, beliefs, etc., but we will stand unified, as we learn to respect & explore our differences, while using them to grow our own understanding & respect for all mankind & the human condition & will use this understanding to supply the strength & wisdom, to discern & to come against & reverse the enemies lies, in our own lives & we will break any victim mindsets & will become victorious together, while accepting others for who they are, either practicing believers, or not, as we accept that all have the right to their constitutional & God given beliefs, without condemnation.

Just as you have the right to your beliefs & I have the right to mine & we can all believe differently & still love each other, as God commands, as we learn, teach & grow together with Unconditional Love, as we come to see that we truly know little about others; as we have not walked in their shoes, taken their beatings, seen the trouble their eyes have seen, from their birth till now & as such we will not judge their ways, beliefs, attitudes, brokenness etc. but we will show them a unified love & help them to see that they are cared for & do matter; faults & all.

Remember no person, has to think like, act like, or be like you; for you to accept & to love them as God commands, in all honesty no one wants to be like you, or me, they want to find their true self e.g. We are far from being like God, or Jesus, but they love us, with all our sins, faults, flaws & wrong beliefs.

We must realize there is no way that everything, if even half of what any of us has learned & believes, can all be truth, regardless of how strong your belief may be, as the enemy has deceived the whole world & has come to lie, steal, kill & destroy & in some way, or another has affected & at times infected our thinking & thoughts.

So, with all that said this is not a religious group, this is an army, of people of the world group, that does accept all, who at least accepts that we, as board members, believe in God & in Jesus Christ, as the Son of God & will follow & teach on the teachings of the whole council of God, but do not let this stop you from learning with us, if you do not, as we will respect your unbelief, as long as you respect our belief.

Now if there's just parts, or stories in God's word, that you doubt, or are not so sure about, that is okay, as you are welcome to your beliefs, just as we are to ours & we can still be family, friends etc. that think differently & can still join together in studies & learn & grow together, because of the love of God.

Now we do not condone, endorse or wave flags for immoral deeds, or actions, per biblical law, but we do separate the persons, from the thoughts & deeds, as we have no idea what happened throughout a persons life that led them down the path they are on, so we love & pray, for all persons, while recognizing their right to think, feel & believe as they have learned.

God gives love freely & wants us to love others freely, regardless of how a person uses their right's, to follow what worldly beliefs, that they may have.

No matter what any of us believe, about the happenings of this world, what's important is that we know that God is still in control & not one of us is smart enough to know what God may be doing in another's life, to use that person's choices, to fulfill His mighty plan & again we are commanded to love all, not just those who agree with us, as we must show all that they are truly loved & they do matter, as much as any other, so that they can learn to love, regardless of their life choices.

So do nothing from selfish ambition or conceit, but in humility count others more significant than yourselves & worthy of your service.

Let each of you look not only to his own interests, but also to the interests of others. Have this mind among yourselves, which is yours in Christ Jesus.

As Board members; Directors, or Officers, of You Are Not Alone You Are Amazing, we each agree to be led by biblically tested, proven & approved love, goodness & TRUTHS & never by others "truths", including religious leaders; learned beliefs, inferences, or opinions, but again only by tried, tested & proven, word of God, not just believing what religious leaders have believed & handed down, as God said in 1 Thessalonians 5:21, that we are each to test & prove these things true. Now though we are to test all teachings, we dont do it to disbelieve, nor to offend any of God's chosen religious leaders, or disciples, as we are never to place ourselves above another & must respect & unify with all whom God has chosen & trusted to lead His children back towards Him.
