

103 A. Doing Life Together.

These coming messages, as I've said before, are for unbelievers & believers, Christians & non-Christians, saved & unsaved alike, as we are all doing life together, for now & should accept all peoples rights & differences, as if you think that anyone does not have the right to act & do as they choose; good, or bad, then neither do you.

Now we do not condone bad acts & they will be paid for by mans & or Gods laws, but it is not our job to judge people, nor to be judged by them, but to be glad that we all share the same rights & to accept that this is life: good, or bad & if you want another's rights to be taken away, then you must be willing to have all yours taken away.

It's time for all to realize that they are not God & have no right to judge another, especially for thinking & believing differently.

I truly love all people, as God commands; all who call themselves democrats, or republicans, or believers, or not, as none are any smarter, or better, or less sinful & less deserving of death & hell, than You, or I are.

Political & religious hatred is the epitome of ignorance & idolatry, as people spend more time hating others due to political, or religious choices & beliefs, than loving them for using their God given right to think differently, which is also you claiming that God did something wrong when creating them, as you seem to truly believe, that you are different when in Gods eyes & heart, you are no better, than the 1 you are judging & may even be worse off, as to hate another is to turn against God & all He created us to be.

If you claim to be saved & truly are, then you have received a new heart, which does not fail & turn from God, through judgement & hatred & if you have hated another, then you need to repent, turn towards God & away from sin & hatred & ask God to make your heart right again & accept all His ways of love for you & to teach you how to have love for all. Dont judge me bad, or say I dont care about you, just because I use my right to be an absolute knower, of the things & ways of God (as I have seen, know & talk with God personally, (watch for the video, "Can I prove that God is real") & this doesn't make me any better than any others & I will not judge any, 4 using their right to believe as they choose, as again we can believe different things, including religious & political ideals & still be civil, mature, united, friends & family, loving helping, befriending, learning from & sharing our days.

I myself have & seek more, democrat & republican voting friends & many believing Children of God & many unbelieving friends & again, if you are not a believer, there is still a lot of good information for you here & in all these messages & there is nothing wrong with learning what & why others believe what they believe, as Christianity is absolutely nothing to be offended by & is not supposed to be against anybody, but is for all who listen to & answer its call, to truly love & show love to others & is to be shared with all, as a wonderful way of life.

Christian goals are not to judge, nor beg, nor have you believe something that you choose not to, but just to show you that true believers, are just friends who may love & think differently than you & that truly is not a crime, nor offense, nor saying we are better than unbelievers, though we do believe in the end, that we will be better off, but that's just using our right to believe in an awesome future, as we do not believe anything as powerful as a spirit was ever created to die & so we believe as Christ said, about being together with Him forever in paradise & that isn't worth judging, nor hating anyone over, as I will love all & help who I can, right up until the end, where all will realize, with that last breathe, just how ridiculous, unimportant, untruthful, or unGodly, many of their wasted life thoughts, especially on judging, or hating others, actually were & how much was lost with ones who may have been a positive part of their life, had they given a chance, showed some maturity & love & just plainly acted less prideful, towards ones that they never had the right to judge in the 1st place, as in the end, man's laws will no longer be the standard, God's will.

Sharing & learning about others beliefs & using these differences to cause loving learning friendships & relationships, regardless of differences, can be a great thing, as I'm sure you know many believers that you don't even realize are believers, as some keep it hidden, as they feel they cannot be truthful & different than friends & unbelievers, so they hide their true self, from U, which is neither fair, nor reasonable, nor Godly, nor American way of a United caring peoples goal.

Now, of Course we must address something, very unfortunate that we all know to be true, which is that there are many false prophets & Christians alike, who play religion, at the expense of God & unbelievers, as they claim to be God fearing Christians, but spend their lives, judging, condemning, hating, chastising & turning their self-righteous ungodly, Unchristian, religious, prideful noses up to others, or perform false healings, judgements & prophecies for financial gain, which pushes many people away from wanting to trust true Christianity, which is based on the purest form of love.

A key to recognizing these fakes, is that Christianity is a relationship with Christ & has nothing to do with pride, or self; no self righteousness, no self help, no self pride, no self boasting, no one better than the other, no holy water & prayer clothes, as we have the real thing daily, God, no me me, or mine mine, or Im good & your not, but if you sow a seed to us & get rich in life, as God has a wonderful life for you here on earth, but true Christians are truthful & recognize everything as being Gods gifts, for all to use & share, including good relationships with those who think differently, through wisdom & love, knowing that our wonderful life will come with the new earth.

SO DO Not Judge God & please choose to not judge me, or other true Christians, who are as human as you are & have flaws just like you, on these fake false, bound for hell false christians & religious leaders who play religious & religions, through, passive, aggressive ungodly acts, as they are not from God's camp & have no idea what a true relationship with Jesus Christ looks like, nor what it means to be a true God fearing Christ following Christian.

Pray for wisdom & a discerning mind to know truth & stay away from false hypocritical ways & please use wisdom, to not judge us for fake christians hypocritical lies & I truly want to apologize to you & all, especially if any, of them have in any way harmed you, or your thoughts, or turned you against God, or any of us, or thoughts of a personal relationship with Christ, as we know that all that call themselves Christians, are not of God & just as we won't judge you, especially on another's faults & lies. Again, I ask, please do not judge true believers, badly, based on false believers ungodly faults, as you are better off than them, even as a nonbeliever, as you still have a chance to find the truth, if you choose & to be called as a believer, but these false fake harmful believers, will pay for all whom they have chased away from God, but for now, just like you & me, they must be allowed their free will, to choose their path & face their judgement & penalty.

Now again, you don't have to agree with, or disagree with my knowledge, for you to be important to God, to me & to millions of true Christians & I can show you that there's a lot of good stuff, that can help you find a positively better life, including becoming my friend, lol, without giving up any of your friends, whether you are a believer, or not, as either way I want to see you find the best of the best of all that's available to you, in this life, which may be found throughout these messages, just by giving me a chance & hearing what I have found & again you don't have to believe it, or live it, but at least hear it & use it & make your own good positive choices from there.

Thank you for getting started with us & I urge you to Please check out our upcoming videos, if for no other reason just because you can & you deserve to see what joys life truly holds for you, even throughout the tests, trials, tribulations & suffering, which are a part of life, that we all must endure at times.

Our upcoming videos will be on the importance of choosing the right armor & winning battles on addictions, Agoraphobia, panic & anxiety disorders, help doing life with God & how to know Him & finding purpose & how to find proof of God's existence & His love & purpose for us.

So stay tuned in, as there is a lot of great loving info. coming your way, which again if you think that they do not affect you directly, there's a good chance that they affect someone you know & love & may help you to be able to help that friend in need.

From here I wish all God's blessings on your life, in the name of Jesus Christ & pray that you will stay with me on these videos, as their purpose is for all of us to be able to unite & help as many hurting, suffering, lost, lonely, broken individuals, as we possibly can together please visit us at youarenotaloneyouareamazing.com. & please contact us for any info.